About $1,000 Realized At Parish Bazaar

LAC LA BICHE — The annual bazaar of St. Catherine's Parish held in the Memorial Hall on Thursday, November 19 was an overwhelming success. The event got under way at 3:00 p.m. and it was not long before the tables were almost cleared of the fine array of fancy work, most of it made right here in Lac la Biche, and many articles donated from all over Canada. Lunch was also served in the afternoon and after school the fishpond and other attractions were held for the kiddies. One of the highlights of the day was the delicious chicken supper to which about 300 people sat down. This supper was one of the best ever put on here and it looks as if the ladies of the parish have started something they will have to keep up and incorporate as a permanent fixture of the annual bazaar. Bingo was held in the evening and such was the calibre of the prizes and the enthusiasm of the crowd that this event did not end until the tables were cleared at almost midnight.

The beautiful Cutwork table set, made by the sister of the hospital was won by Mrs. L. Peltier, and Mrs. N. Zinko was the winner of the smaller table set.

This annual event is sponsored and organized by the ladies of the parish and the president and all the helpers, men and women are to be congratulated and most sincerely thanked for this splendid display of co-operation. As the expenses have not all been paid yet, the amount cleared will be given at a later date. However, it is safe to say that about $1,000.00, if not a little more was realized.

Among other gifts given to Father St. Arnaud was a nice pair of flight boots, a very nice encouragement for him to start winter and work on the rink. To all those who contributed, Father's most sincere thanks.

COFFEE PARTY CLIMAXES THREE-DAY MUNICIPAL CONVENTION FOR LADIES

EDMONTON—Wives of the provincial delegates attended a coffee party, climaxing a three-day Alberta Association of Municipalities Convention. The party was sponsored by Community Publications at ten o'clock last Friday morning when Mrs. T. W. Pue welcomed about 165 guests.

Miss Isobel McDonald, Publicity Agent of CFRN introduced Helen Kent, Woodward's Home Service Director from CFRN as guest speaker, and Mr. Jack Denistoun, also of CFRN, who entertained the ladies with delightful selections at the piano.

Miss Kent held the ladies spellbound with her informal chat relating how she first started in radio, the people she has interviewed—who included Mrs. Roosevelt, Lady Redding, Lady Baden-Powell and many more and in each case she told of comic incidents in her different interviews. Many times she had to cease talking as the ladies burst forth in peels of laughter at her witticisms. Miss Kent spoke of the Friendship Club in Edmonton, across Alberta and some that are outside of this province. Of these clubs, she was the instigator, and is very much concerned with Social Welfare work.

Mrs. Pue then introduced Mr. D. Roberts, Secretary-Treasurer of the M.D. of Strathcona and Mr. T. W. Pue, of Community Publications.

After coffee and lunch, the ladies expressed their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Pue for their kind hospitality and to C. Woodward's and radio station CFRN for the privilege of seeing and hearing Mrs. Henderson, better known as Helen Kent whom they had heard on the radio many times but had never met. Many of them were of the same opinion that the Coffee Party was the highlight of the convention for them and that they hoped it would be in Edmonton again next year.

The Right Thing To Do

While opposition members of the House of Commons are bombarding the government for a loan plan on farm-stored grain, Roy C. Marler of Alberta is urging farmers not to borrow money even if they can.

It seems strange that Mr. Marler, President of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture should so advocate a course that imposes an unjust burden on every creditor of the farmer. If a businessman is short on cash and has a lot of good, saleable merchandise in stock, he goes to the bank and borrows money so that he can pay his help, his creditors and his rent and taxes. That is the business-like, honorable thing to do. It just wouldn't be right for a businessman to owe money that he could borrow from the bank and pay his creditors.

Now, in the present situation, many farmers could go to the bank, borrow enough money to pay up their debts and arrange to pay the bank when they deliver their grain. Farmers should not, of course, make unnecessary purchases while short of cash, but in spite of Mr. Marler's advice they should keep faith with those to whom they are now indebted.

So, if your credit is good, and you want to do the right thing, pay your debts if you have to borrow the money. Banks are in business to help out in such emergencies.

Beware of the Grain Beetle

In spite of the fact that we have had excellent weather conditions for harvesting this fall, some of the earlier threshed grain went into bins in a damp condition. This, coupled with makeshift storage has left the grain vulnerable to be attacked and infested with various grain infesting insects.

One such infestation was recently found in the Edmonton area in a granary where the new crop was piled over last year's grain. Farmers should be aware of this potential insect problem, particularly if we have continued warm weather, advises W. Lobay, Supervisor, Pest Control. It is a good idea, he says, to examine the grain about every two weeks, whether any infestation is found or not. Damp or crusted spots may be found by placing a metal rod at several places in the grain, leaving it for 10 minutes and then testing it on the back of the hand for heat. Tough spots are usually recognized by the difficulty encountered in pushing the rod into the grain. Any abnormal odors arising from the grain may indicate some insect activity.

If the rusty grain beetle is detected, action should be taken at once. Under freezing conditions, transferring the grain from one bin to another to break the crusted spots and cool the grain will check the insect problem. If the weather is warm, however, one should resort to fumigation. The fumigation will be more effective if the grain is turned first—the fumigant will have a better chance to invade the whole mass.

Fumigation is relatively easy and will cost any where from 1/2c to 1 1/2c per bushel, depending upon the seriousness of the infestation and the type of storage. Proper gas masks may be obtained from the District Agriculturist, along with information concerning the type of fumigant to be used.

If mite infection is found, but no beetles, this may be cleared up by turning the grain and cleaning it.

Checking often is a good policy. Early detection of the problem will save added expense later.

World Bread Grain Production

The United States department of agriculture estimates world wheat production this year at 7,025,000,000 bushels compared with 7,290,000,000 bushels in 1952.

While the total output is 168,000,000 bushels less than last year, the production figure is about a billion bushels larger than the prewar average. The wheat carryover from last year was considerably larger than in the previous year.

The 1953 world production of rye was placed at 1,570,000,000 bushels, which is slightly less than in 1952 and 9 per cent below the prewar average.

An Uneasy Peace

There is peace now in Korea and there has been for several months.

It is peace because there are no big guns being fired, no air raids raining death and destruction, no bloody battlefield butchery and no hand-to-hand combat in lonely midnight patrols. The artillery is silent.

But let it be remembered that this is no real peace. The hate and the enmity remain, and only an armistice keeps the opposing forces from flying at each other's throats.

Like the negotiations that were prolonged for two seemingly unending years to arrive at a "cease fire" it now appears likely that peace negotiations will be a long drawn-out affair.

Neither side was conquered in the war of Korea and so neither we nor the Communists are strong enough to force the other to agree to peace terms. And until a peace treaty is signed we must consider Korea still a battle-ground for freedom.

It will be well, therefore, for Canada, Britain, the United States and the other members of the United Nations that went to the defense of South Korea to remain on guard and ready to leap at a moment's notice to battle again in the eternal fight for freedom.

Another Book By Churchill

Sir Winston Churchill's sixth volume of his series covering World War II is now ready to appear on the bookshelves of the world. The famous war leader, who has just received the Nobel Prize for literature, covers the period from D-Day in Europe to the end of the war in his final volume, entitled,—"Triumph and Tragedy."

Anyone who has not read at least some of the Churchill books, either on World War I or World War II, has missed some of the era's most colorful writing and certainly some of the most gripping descriptions of major events ever written. It is encouraging to writers who have not yet achieved success to realize that Churchill was very poor in grammar, in school, and was told that he would never be a successful writer.

In spite of this, Churchill has become perhaps the world's greatest historical writer, with a knack for making true events more interesting than fiction, describing them in dramatic fashion as they unfolded day by day.

Aside from being educational and interesting from an historical viewpoint, Churchill books offer readers enough inside information to enable them to make intelligent conclusions of their own, whether or not they agree with the British Prime Minister. The English-reading world is fortunate that the greatest chronicle of events, written on World War II, from the top-level viewpoint, is available, at normal cost, in the English language.

A Round to the Bears

Helles Forsman and his family have conceded a round to animals in mankind's long fight against beasts of the forests. Forsman is, or was, an inhabitant in the woods near Grimshaw Inlet, British Columbia.

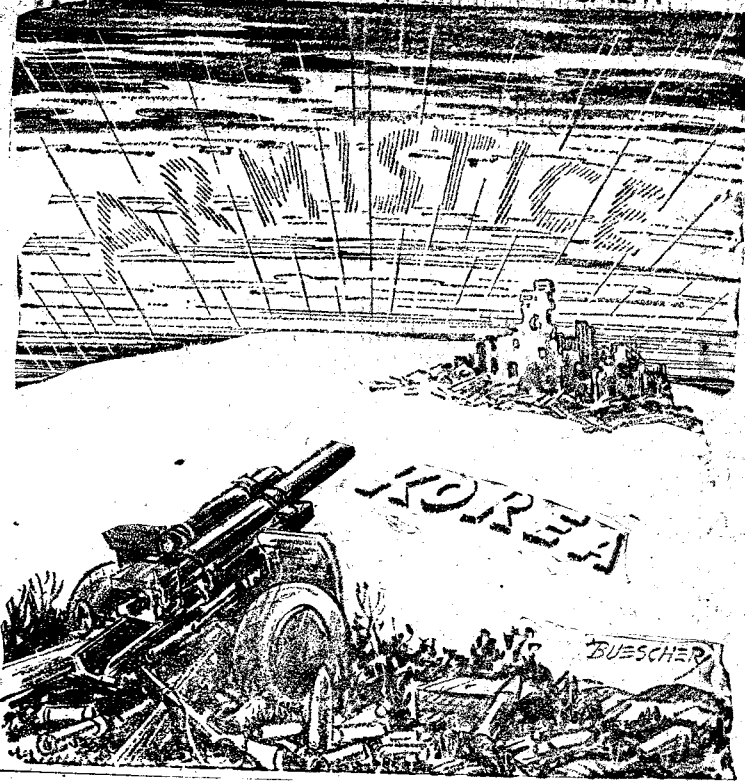

Recently the bear population in that region has been acting up and some of them decided Forsman's house would make an ideal headquarters for the band. For a time Forsman disputed the issue vigorously, and his residence resulted in death for several of the hungry bears. One was shot eating sausage in Forsman's kitchen, while a little later, Foreman killed three of them in one night in his home.

Finally the persistence and numbers of bears paid off and Forsman, representing civilization, had to concede to the brute strength of the wild animals. Therefore, he and his wife, and their twin daughters, moved to Vancouver, and left the bears in charge of Grimshaw Inlet. All of which proves that even civilization's most modern weapons sometimes fail to impress our four-footed friends.

"KLONDYKE DAZE"

Yes — the Sangudo Klondyke Daze is over. The crowds at the rink, and the big dance made us a bit tired but nevertheless happy because the event was a big success.

Great credit is due those who worked and planned for many months, those stalwart sons who grew the unbelievable thick beards and the LAC STE ANNE CHRONICLE for giving the event such good publicity.

The entertainment was of the best. We just wish we could see more of the "Highland Dancing" and hear more of "Edmonton Boys' Pipe Band." They were wonderful. Sandy's magic tricks and stunts were enjoyed by everyone. It was good to hear someone such as Mr. Stuart Campbell sing us fine Scotch tunes. It's not every day we have people come eighty miles out of the city to entertain in our small town.

Might I say once again that it was an evening well spent to be at the Sangudo Klondyke Carnival on Wednesday, October 28th, of the year 1953. May we see more of the same next year.

DISGRACE TO CANADA

Editor, The Sun: Sir—We who are about to die salute you. I speak for the burnt-out pensioners between 70 and 90, first war men.

We appeal to you and your intelligent readers against the action of the DVA in reducing war veterans' allowances. We find as we go on the old age pension they cut our WV allowance as veterans to $20, making a maximum of $60 a month.

At our age we need heat in our rooms, woollen underwear in winter, and often special diets.

Many are past the vigor needed to do their own laundry. Their numb and fumbling hands can no longer guide a needle to darn their own socks or put patches on a pair of pants.

Needless to say, they can't attend "the means of grace" on Sunday for want of suitable raiment. They perform become financial wizards. Imagine the old boys wrestling with their budgets.

Parliament will be in session soon. Kindly write your member and enclose a clipping. No use to phone the local board. They do all they can under the present Veterans' Allowance Act.

The Act as it stands is a disgrace to all Canadians and needs drastic amendment.

—Old Vet.

THE GREENLEASE KILLERS

The kidnapping and murder of little Bobby Greenlease of Kansas City ought to wake up freedom-loving Americans to the need of reforms in their laws. Easy paroles for criminals seem to be one fault. That man and woman, if proven guilty, should be strung up in spite of any sobsters.

CARELESS HUNTERS

Why can't hunters be forced to pay for damage these cause by their carelessness when trespassing on farmers' property?

Recently, a duck hunter sat smoking beside a slough and started a fire. Two farmers working nearby saw it and spread alarm. Neighbors rallied, provided an all-night vigil and thoroughly soaked the brush nearby to halt the flames and prevent a new outbreak.

Carelessness of smokers is really a criminal matter, for if there had been a strong wind the damage could have been extensive and dreadful. By an inflexible law of the universe, when we cause harm to come to others, sooner or later we must pay the penalty in full, so we should be as careful as possible.

LETTER TO LOUISA

Couple Have Nothing To Talk About Want To Know If They Should Marry

Dear Louise:

I'm hoping you could give me some advise to my problem. I'm going steady with a very nice girl, but I can't seem to really find anything to talk about or do when we are together. She likes me very much and wants me to go steady. What am I supposed to do. I do want to get engaged to her on Christmas, but I don't know if I love her. How should I find out. Please let me know. Lonely, BUD.

Answer:

Well, Bud, it seems to be a very easy thing to fall in love these days and get married. But a lot of fine young men and women are finding it harder to stay in love and hence stay married.

What people in love need is a community of interest. If you and your sweetheart haven't got a real love for at least some of the same things, better not get married until you do.

My suggestion to you is to talk this problem over frankly and decide to get interested in some interesting sport, hobby or work. Maybe there are already certain diversions you could enjoy together but sitting in silence on the big sofa in the parlor each evening hasn't given you the opportunity to find out what those things are. Find out what you'd both like to do. Maybe it is an active part in church work, horseback riding, hunting, stamp collecting, books or any one or two or several of hundreds of things at which you can work and play together.

But don't get married the way you are doing it now because if you do you'll each be faced with spending the rest of your life with a spouse who acts like a mummy and you won't want to live that kind of married life.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I'll be 19 next month. I think I am old enough to know who I love and want.

I was dating a man who was married but who is in the army now. He says when he gets out he is going to marry me. Do you think there is anything wrong in marrying him?

My people don't like him but I think I am old enough to know who I want to marry. Please give me your opinion.

UNDECIDED.

Answer:

I think there is definitely something wrong when a single girl dates a married man. Even if she doesn't mind breaking up a family—which is a very serious thing to do—she is usually playing with fire and, nine times out of ten, is just building up grief and trouble for herself.

Have you ever stopped to think how much dependence you can put in a man who so casually leaves the woman he has promised to love and cherish, when he meets a younger woman who attracted him? Think it over.

LOUSE.

Yellowknife Gets Its First Mayor

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (BUP)—John G. McNiven, a mining engineer, became Yellowknife's first mayor Monday as the town held civic elections to fill its first full-fledged council.

McNiven was elected by acclamation when no opponents posted papers to run against him.

The council, formerly known as the trustee board, will have full jurisdiction over civic affairs. Previously the town has been governed by a six-man board, of which three were appointed by the federal government.

McNiven has resided in Yellowknife for 14 years.

Plastics Plant Starts Production In Strathcona Industrial District

EDMONTON (BUP)—Canadian Industries Ltd. has put its $13,500,000 plastics plant east of Edmonton on production, the newest addition to the district's booming industry row.

Plant Manager J. D. Wright said the ethylene section of the plant began operating after nearly two weeks of tests, and that the main product of the plant, polythene, starts coming off the production line this week.

Ethylene, the raw material from which the wonder plastic, polythene, is made, is derived from the natural gas of the nearby Leduc-Woodbend oil field.

Wright said that about 230 workers will be engaged at the sprawling 40-acre plant, which contains 14 main buildings.

Polythene, discovered in 1933 by British research scientists, is used in manufacturing a wide variety of articles ranging from coated paper to ice cube trays, from tumblers to television insulation.

The Edmonton plant is the first in Canada to manufacture polythene, for which there is a wide demand with consumption at present reaching 250,000,000 lbs. annually.

Wright was works manager of the CIL's chemical plant at Windsor, Ont., before coming to the Edmonton plant at the start of construction in 1952.

500 Attending 45th Convention At Edmonton

Problems facing Alberta's rural municipal districts will be threshed out this week at the 45th annual convention of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts in Edmonton's Macdonald Hotel.

About 500 persons, including 350 delegates, are attending the three-day convention Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Rural council members from all sections of the province, in addition to reeves and other municipal authorities, are attending the convention.

The sessions are being presided over by President C. P. Hayes of Strome. Other officials are Vice-president A. B. Haarstad of Bentley; Secretary-treasurer David Roberts of Strathcona municipality, and directors J. F. Smith of Fairview, J. M. McKay of Brent, and G. W. Moyer of Fort Saskatchewan.

Lieut.-Gov. J. J. Bowlen, Premier E. C. Manning, Municipal Affairs Minister C. E. Gerhart, and Mayor Hawrelak gave welcoming addresses at the opening session.

Highlights of the convention are a report by J. E. Brownlee, of Calgary, solicitor of the association, and an address by Highways Minister Gordon E. Taylor.

Resolutions and election of officers will be dealt with at closing sessions of the convention.

The closing banquet will be addressed by deputy municipal affairs minister J. W. Judge.

Works Halted On Valleyview Highway

EDMONTON (BUP)—Officials of the Alberta Highways Department say work has halted for the winter on the new 108-mile cut-off road from Whitecourt to Valleyview in the Peace River area.

The suspension of work was necessary due to frost conditions.

Officials said they are confident the project will be completed in 1954, as crews did considerable work at both ends of the new road this season despite long periods of wet weather.

Athabaskan Crew To Be Home For Xmas

H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, now completing her third tour of duty in the Far East, will leave for Canada one week earlier than originally scheduled. The new departure date, November 18, will enable all members of the ship's company who will be going on leave to reach their homes across fore Premier E. C. Manning and cabinet members.

Willmore, a clothing and shoe merchant, was elected in the Edson riding in the Alberta general election in 1944, and was re-elected at each of the two succeeding elections.

A native of Fessenden, North Dakota, Willmore came to Edmonton at the age of six. He was married in 1933 and has one son.

Canada in plenty of time for Christmas.

The Athabaskan is scheduled to arrive at Esquimalt, B.C., on December 11. H.M.S.C. Crusader, which sailed from Esquimalt on October 10, will take over the Athabaskan's duties.

On her current tour, the destroyer will have been away from her home base for nearly 14 months, longer than any other Canadian ship with Korean service. She possesses one of the longest records of Korean service of any United Nations warship, having been in the theatre for 30 of the 37 months of hostilities. Her commanding officer is Commander John C. Reed of Toronto and Victoria.

LAC LA BICHE NEWS BRIEFS

At the last meeting of the Lions Club it was decided to hold their annual turkey bingo on Thursday, December 10, so if it's a turkey you want for Christmas, here's your opportunity to maybe get one cheap.

Some of the ladies on the WI Bowling League are back into their general good form and bowling a nice score. High scores for the last week were: Mrs. L. Ray, 225; Mrs. A. Proctor, 214; Miss O. Bakay, 208. Playoffs will be commencing, so all players are reminded to be on hand for these games, as no substitution is permissible.

Jack Olstad motored to Fairview to attend his sister's wedding.

Congratulations to Al Wonorowich, who was the winner of a quilt raffled by the Greek Orthodox Church in Wandering River.

Gerry Bourget, who is in the air force, now stationed at Montreal, Quebec, is home on a 16-day leave visiting relatives and friends.

Don Ferguson is back at his job at the Treasury Branch after undergoing an operation in Edmonton.

Mrs. Andy Terchuk left for Dayton, Ohio, to visit her sister, who is ill.

Mr. Frank Moffet, who was the bank manager in Pipaon, Sask., has now taken over management at the Imperial Bank.

Dr. Jonason Impressed With Dr. Swift School

LAC LA BICHE — The high school classes were honored this week by a visit from the high school inspector, Dr. J. E. Jonason. By his gratifying remarks, it was assumed he was not too unfavorably impressed with the school.

There will be no Christmas concert this year. The delayed opening of school has left too little time for preparation.

One high school girl and most of the high school boys descended last Friday on the skating rink site, and for a time worked furiously to prepare it for the skating season. The rink is all ready for ice as soon as the weather gets cold enough. In addition to this, the shack has a new tarpaper roof.

The superior bowlers for the week are: Clyde Diesel 219; Wilfred Woychuk 194; Louise Tremblay 193.

Honey Crop Proves Very Satisfactory

ATMORE — Mr. and Mrs. Armand Bouvier were in the city with their load of honey. Mr. Bouvier reported his honey crop very satisfactory. Work extracting honey, with his helper, Mrs. Bouvier, was much facilitated with the new extractor, steam knife and wax melter. The installation is altogether very modern and interesting to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Johnson of Edmonton spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Bouvier.

Bob Lefebvre and Laurent Grenier have found work at Grande Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boudreau had to rush their young daughter, who was ill, to Edmonton. The child is recovering very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Adeas Bourassa, with their daughters Jeanne and Marquerite have moved into town. They occupy one of Victor Genoud's houses.

Laurent Ulliac is now driving a new car.

U.S. investments abroad are reported as $15,000,000,000.

Work Commences On New Pasteurization Plant

LAC LA BICHE — Lac la Biche and district residents will be pleased to hear that L. Badry, manager of the Lac la Biche Creamery has commenced work on the new Pasteurization Plant. The building, which is being constructed as an addition to the present creamery will house the new industry, and equipment is expected in the very near future.

A pasteurization plant in this district will be a boon to the residents, as at the present time all pasteurized milk has to be brought in from Edmonton at considerably higher prices, and inconvenience.

Mr. Badry informs that there will be a house to house delivery when the business is in operation, and he hopes to commence work in the new line sometime after the new year.

Fire Brigade Answers Call

LAC LA BICHE — Early Sunday morning the Volunteer Fire Brigade answered two fire calls, one at the home of Abe Charon and one at G. Fisher's.

On Tuesday evening Fire Commissioner B. Miller and his assistant held a special meeting at the Dr. Swift school, during which time they showed several movies pertaining to fire-fighting and methods of handling equipment.

To date all firemen have received their new hats, and the uniforms are now just about complete.

Work is progressing favorably on the addition to the fire hall and should be completed in the very near future.

CORRECTION!

We wish to make a correction in an announcement appearing in this publication recently. It read to the effect that Tartan permanent anti-freeze is a better all-weather protection for the cooling system of your car. It should have read "Tartan glycol permanent anti-freeze is the best in the West because it's made for the West by Westerners!" This is one of the main reasons why Western farmers, truckers, and machine operators use Tartan all-weather anti-freeze. They know it won't evaporate, boil away, or corrode the cooling system of their car, truck or tractor. It is specially compounded to protect their engine from effects of Western weather.

STRIFE BETWEEN SOLDIERS AND CIVILIANS ENDED AT WAINWRIGHT MILITARY CAMP

By RAYMOND ARGYLE, British United Press Correspondent

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (BUP)—

Military and civic officials today pointed with pride to this small prairie farm town where mutual co-operation overcame friction between soldiers and civilians which had threatened to disrupt the huge army base here.

A quiet farming and trading center before the outbreak of the Korean war in 1950, Wainwright has been bursting at the seams since the Canadian Army selected the area for the site of one of its main infantry training camps.

The sprawling, 260-square mile camp two miles from town which has housed up to 6,000 troops at one time became the base for the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Replacement Group, now known as the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade.

Soldier-civilian relationships here grew progressively worse for over a year after the camp became the training centre for Korean-bound troops.

Soldiers complained there was nothing to do; no housing for their families; and that the townspeople distrusted them. Civilians charged the troops were rowdy; that they overran the town "like a mob"; and that life was better before the camp was set up.

"The impact of so many troops on a small town like Wainwright was too great," Brig. A. F. Clift, DSO, said in reviewing the development of the camp which he commanded and saw rise from a few tents to permanent, first-class buildings.

"As the camp began to get established," he said, "we saw a big change take place in everyone's attitude, and I think our relationships with the townspeople are now based on mutual respect."

Observers, who watched early antagonism give way to friendliness and good-will pinned the change down to three main factors:

1. Establishment of permanent, well-equipped barracks, administration buildings, and recreation centers at the camp.

2. Inter-play of associations between the troops and civilians, such as townspeople becoming honorary members of the officers' mess, and soldiers taking part in community activities.

3. A well-organized recreation program which has kept hundreds of soldiers out of the hair of town residents.

"I think the public's attitude toward the army has changed," Brig. Clift said. "The immediate post-war revulsion to uniforms has given way to a realization that large forces are a permanent part of our way of life."

Brig. Clift paid tribute to his staff officers in working out recreation programs and maintaining an active training program.

"We are all very conscious of the importance of good public relations," he said, "and are proud of the behavior of our troops, who are a cross-section of the Canadian Army. We had no incidents this year."

The camp, which hits its peak each summer with large scale military manoeuvres, transfers much of its winter activity to Western Army Command at Edmonton. A small force remains on under command of Major A. E. Lawrence, of Hamilton, Ont.

Setting up of the camp spurred Wainwright's growth, and the town has doubled in population from 1500 to 3000 in the past two years. About 100 army families live in the town, and over 100 civilians are employed at the camp.

Recreation activities provided at the camp include nightly movies, with two showings on Sundays; boxing or wrestling matches Saturday nights presented by professional promoters from Edmonton; bingo; a bowling alley, and an outdoor swimming pool.

Mayor J. D. Wallace of Wainwright, the town's physician and also the doctor for the camp, worked closely with Brig. Clift in developing better relations between the soldiers and civilians.

"As an ex-RCAP man, and a member of the air force reserve I realize the importance of providing healthy outlets for the men," he said.

The camp has a monthly newspaper, the "Wainwright Warrior," edited by Lieut. O. L. Studd, who plans on becoming a small town newspaper editor when he receives his army discharge.

The paper is printed on the presses of the town weekly, the Wainwright Star-Chronicle, published by Len D'Albertanson, and has as big a circulation among town residents as at the camp.

As the camp is located far from a large city which could absorb the large number of troops with little difficulty, special trains are run each week-end 160 miles to Edmonton.

After the soldiers began arriving in Edmonton on week-end leave, the Edmonton Council of Community Services hit upon the idea of providing them with an information bulletin outlining activities going on in the city, such as sports events. The council provides the camp with the information each week, which is printed in the mimeographed information bulletin.

Brig. Clift, a slim, tall 45-year-old native of Saskatchewan with 30 years' military experience, lauds both his troops and the civilians for the healthy relations the camp now enjoys.

"It's the best camp in the country," he said, "with absolute first-class terrain for manoeuvres."

"My troops—they're the salt of the earth—are mostly young and the majority joined up for adventure. They take great pride in their camp and we are proud of them."

Six-Sided Miracle

Maybe you have already had your first snow. As I write, the air outside my office window hints of it but not a flake has fallen and I'm sorry, for the very minute snow begins to fall I'll rush outdoors to revel in it.

I feel about snow the same way Thoreau did when he said, "I should hardly admire them fore if real stars fell and lodged on my coat. Nature is full of genius, full of divinity. Nothing is cheap or coarse, neither dewdrops nor snowflakes. And as surely as the petals of a flower are fixed, each of these countless snow-stars comes whirling to earth, pronouncing thus, with emphasis, the number six."

Well, I've spent more than forty years admiring snowflakes and I've never seen two alike, but I've noticed they're all six-sided, all have those perfect sixty-degree angles, yet all have an infinite variety that gives them beauty.

This year I'm afraid I'll watch from a city window for the first snow. I'd rather be watching them drift down over some prairie town like Manitou, or Mordon or Plum Coulee, where they'll really make a difference. Here in the city, life goes on much the same and folks hardly notice the first snow. But on the prairies, spot and seasoned poplar standing ready in the woodshed, begins to look mightily important. Jars of preserves shining in the dim light of cellar fruit closets are ready, and the snow is the prairie housewife's cue to bring up the first jar of saskatoon or blackberries or cranberry jelly from the batch done up last season.

In prairie towns the bob sleds will be brought up from the basement by small boys who will hook them on the back of the town dray. The dray man will shout at them and shoo them off—then carefully turn his back so they may be tied back on again at once. And if he's a real nice dray man (and they nearly all are) he will make like his team is going to run away, and some very small boys will get a thrill to last a lifetime. A thrill they'll save and use again some other winter they watch the first snow fall in a big, unheeding city.

Yes, all snow is beautiful—but all snow, even each separate flake, is different. And that is the way the good Lord meant it to be. And I think He'd like us humans to be that way too—all beautiful, but different. He wouldn't want us crammed into some single mold, trained up by some central dictator or preached to by some central government. We're starting to worship uniformity these days, I'm afraid, and we're forgetting to be individuals with wills or own own. Maybe we'd all be wise, this year, to take a good long look at the first snow.

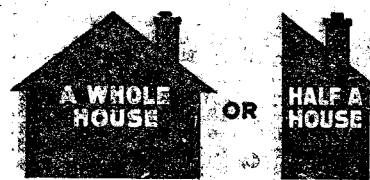

Nurses Would Visit New Born Babies

Health Unit nurses visit new-born babies as soon after birth as possible because that is the time when this service is most useful to the mother and the baby both. Difficulties have lately been encountered in securing notification of births early enough through the usual channels. It would be much appreciated if parents of new babies would notify the Leduc-Strathcona Health Unit, 10426 81 Avenue, Edmonton, promptly so that visits may be made without delay.—Your Health Unit.

HOSPITAL USES 31 IRON LUNGS

EDMONTON (BUP)—Fifteen iron lungs were flown to Edmonton last week to combat the poliomyelitis epidemic which flared up despite freezing weather and has caused 47 new cases recently.

The RCAF flew in three more of the life-saving respirator units from Winnipeg, and 12 were flown in from Boston by an RCAF craft from Dorval, Que.

The 15 new units raised to 31 the number in operation at Edmonton's Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Health authorities are baffled by the late-season outbreak of the disease.

Alberta has had 1,159 cases, of which 225 were in Edmonton. There have been 80 fatalities.

IMMIGRATION SAID NECESSARY TO RAISE LIVING STANDARDS

SHERBROOKE, Que.—Canada should admit more immigrants if it wants a standard of living equal to that of the United States, J. D. Ferguson, president of the Canadian manufacturers' association, said here.

Ferguson told the CMA local branch that Canada, with its present population of close to 15,000,000, had neither the hands nor the funds to produce the same amount of goods as the United States and lacked the mouths to consume its production.

"The simple fact is that a nation of 15,000,000 cannot buy as much as a nation of 160,000,000, and it is more difficult to produce as cheaply," he said. "If it cannot sell all its goods at home, it must sell them abroad. If it will sell them abroad, it must compete in price with other nations. If it cannot compete in price, it will be left with a surplus on its hands and its standard of living will drop."

Ferguson said "blind" demands for wage parity with the United States had forced up the prices of Canada's products to overseas countries," he said. "The only way for Canada now to equal the standard of living of the United States is to increase its domestic market as rapidly as possible. To ask for parity with the United States under present conditions is crying for the moon."

"We want a standard of living equal to that of the United States. With 15,000,000 Canadians that is impossible. With 160,000,000 that is inevitable."

Ferguson said that immigrants and their families would increase the demand for goods enough to counterbalance their increased competition for jobs.

Some say that immigrants should wait until houses and jobs are waiting for them, he said, but "if he waits for a vacant house before he comes, the house will never be built and he will never come."

"Did the early settlers have houses to come to? Were they guaranteed jobs before they came?"

Edmonton Trucker Injured In Crash

EDMONTON (BUP)—An Edmonton truck driver is in "fairly good" condition in a Port Arthur, Ont., hospital following an accident on the trans-Canada highway near Port Arthur recently.

Simond Sochatzky was injured when his giant Diesel semi-trailer crashed and burst into flames.

Ontario provincial police said the big van blew a tire while going around a curve, rolled into a rock cut and burst into flames.

Department of highway employees rushed to the scene with a water pumper, but were unable to extinguish the blaze. The fire, which left the truck a burned shell, was aided by exploding cans and flaming paper, included in the cargo.

Hospital officials said Sochatzky had a restful night and X-rays were to be taken late Monday.

BOSTON—Police holding Chester Sargent, 60, who had tried to steal a $25 topcoat from a department store, found $11,425 in cash in the man's wallet. NEWS ODDITIES

Hallowe'en Fall

Fatal

BALTIMORE, Md.—Little "Danny" Forrester, 7, started out on a trick-or-treats round with his brother Michael and some playmates. Visiting a neighbor's house, Danny lost his balance on the porch and fell backwards into a coal bin, four feet below. Not apparently hurt, the child was taken home. His parents took him to a doctor, who immediately ordered the child to a hospital, where he died before midnight.

Hat Too Tight

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The hat little Frank Treat, 22-months-old, tried on recently was too tight. Firemen called to the Treat house, sawed a child's portable toilet seat from the youngster's head.

Useless Excitement

WARSAW, N.Y.—Drillers, seeking water, found traces of oil 100 feet below the home of Gilbert Barbour. Excitedly, they investigated and found that the oil came from a leaking oil can on their drill machinery.

Squirrel Hunt

Perilous

MCALISTER, Okla.—Squirrel hunting in this country recently was a hazardous sport. Manuel Blackwood, climbing a tree to get a squirrel from a hollow limb, was wounded in the arm when his gun went off. Then, Sammy Smith and Lewis Zoomer cut down a tree to get a squirrel and the tree fell on Smith and broke his leg.

New Scheme

BUTTE, Mont.—Burglars called three hotels here early in the morning to report smoke was streaming from top-floor windows. When night clerks in two of the hotels investigated the report, they returned to find that thieves had cleaned out their registers, getting about $230. The scheme backfired in one hotel, however, as a porter remained at the desk to give the alarm in case of fire.

Use for Ragweed

CHILLICOTHE, Mo.—The De-pier brothers, farmers near here have come up with a new use for ragweed, that trouble-maker for hay fever sufferers. As an experiment, they cut the ragweed which grew up in a 10-acre plot, stacked it and it turned into silage which smelled like licorice. Their cattle liked it so well they broke down an electric fence to get to it.

Church Rent: One

Peppercorn

ABBOTTSTOWN, Pa.—When the Lutheran congregation of this small town pays its rent for the year, it will be only the third time in 283 years the rental has been collected. The church bought two lots from John Abbott, at a cost of five shillings and the annual payment of one peppercorn—a dried berry of the black pepper. The 1953 payment will be made as a part of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the town.

Buried Money

Gone

BALDWIN PARK, Cal.—Deciding to buy a house, Caryl E. Purcell, 39-year-old machinist, cashed in a $10,000 life insurance policy for $7,960 and then cashed some bonds he had accumulated. Wanting the money "where he could get it in a hurry," Purcell buried it under his garage. Recently, he decided to take a look at his cache and it was gone.

4-Year-Old

Criminal

WORCESTER, Mass.—Patrolman John J. Barry saw a 4-year-old boy running away from a small variety store which had an accusing hole in a window. Barry caught the youngster, who readily turned over the loot—59 cents. The child had tossed a stone through the window, unlocked the door and snatched the money.

Giant Beet

Hard-To-Beat

CHICAGO—Katie Stieff, produce manager, recently displayed a giant beet—13½ pounds—which she said was grown on her father's farm nearby.

Ingenious Birds

Memphis, Tenn.—A year or so ago George Grantham, Sheriff's Lieutenant, built a birdhouse for martins and placed it in his backyard. The martins found the doorways too small, but sparrows found them just right and moved in. However, Grantham vows that last spring the martins came back, bringing a woodpecker with them. The woodpecker went to work and pecked away until he made the holes big enough for the martins. The job finished, the woodpecker left and the martins moved in.

A Hunted Hunter

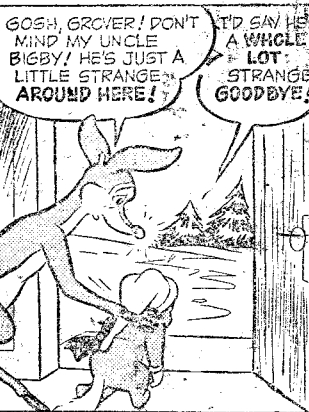

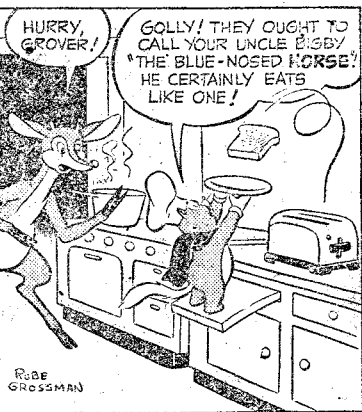

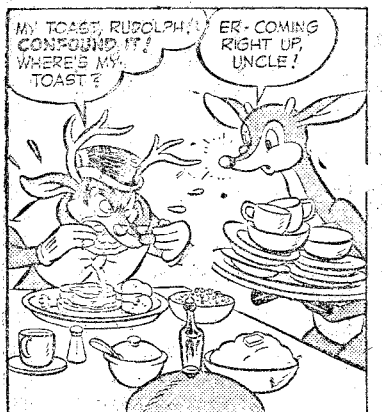

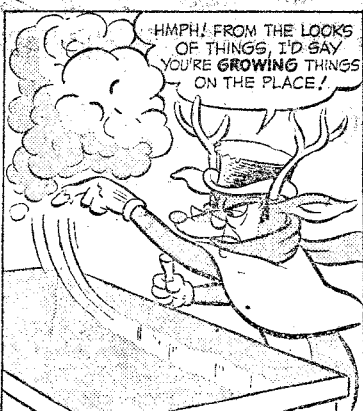

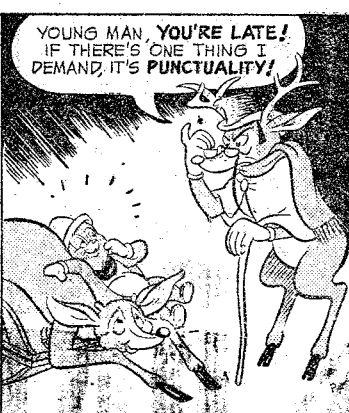

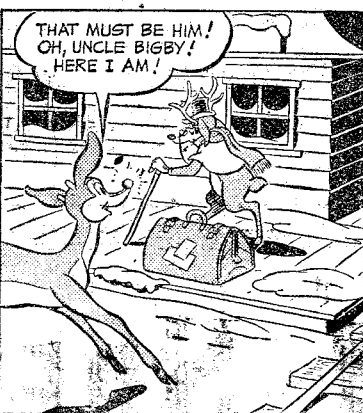

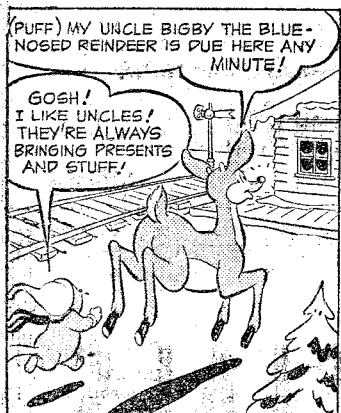

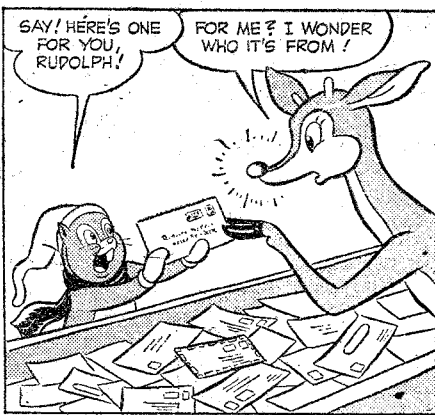

LUDINGTON, Mich.—After wounding a deer, which he had shot with his bow and arrow, Victor Jensen, 44, trailed it, hoping to make the kill. He became hopelessly snarled in thick brush and had to spend the night in the area. At daybreak, Jensen made his way out of the woods—minus the deer—to encounter a posse of sheriff's officers, conservation men and volunteers who had been hunting for him.

Parents to Pay

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill.—Under provisions of an anti-truant law recently passed by the City Council, if junior is between the ages of 7 and 16 and enrolled in an East St. Louis public school, it will cost his parent from $5 to $20 if he skips classes without a good excuse. Only illness, attendance at religious classes or necessary employment within provisions of the child labor law are considered acceptable reasons for children missing classes.

Well Known Baptist Minister-Musician Has Released Many Sacred Recordings

A former South Edmonton pastor who is presently pastor of McLaurin Baptist Church Grande Prairie has recently been featured on commercial phonograph records.

Rev. T. Elgar Roberts came to Beulah Tabernacle, Edmonton in 1944 as choir-leader and assistant pastor. In the summer of 1946 he accepted a call as pastor of Bonnie Doon Baptist Church, Edmonton and remained in this pastorate till April 1951, when he accepted a call to McLaurin Baptist Church, Grande Prairie.

Mr. Roberts known to people in and around Edmonton as both preacher and musician was always active in interdenominational activities. Hundreds of people used to enjoy his original arrangements of the well loved Christmas carols as he played the Hammond organ at the noon hour in one of Edmonton's large department stores and in a music store.

Mr. Roberts, better known to many in rural areas as musical director of the Heaven and Home Hour, used to fascinate radio listeners by playing organ and piano

Athabasca Sub-Local Holds Anniversary Teachers Meet

The teachers in the Athabasca sub-local met on Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. with President C. Tymchuk in the chair. The main business for the evening was the arrangement of succeeding programs with the topic of reading to be the feature at the next session.

Mr. C. Merkley addressed the group on the topic, "Democracy in the Athabasca Division." It is necessary for the teachers to take an active interest in the administration and financial part of the school business as well as in actual classroom teaching. Such a co-ordinated interest could only be obtained if a definite contact is established between all groups working in the educational program of the area. Since teachers were the nucleus around which many other groups revolved, it is essential that all teachers feel that they had a definite part to play in the improvement of education and school facilities in the area.

The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m. with a light lunch provided by a group member at the finish.

Royal Recordings: "Ring the Bells of Heaven" (organ and piano) "Onward Christian Soldiers" (piano) "Some Bright Morning" (organ and piano) "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" (organ) "Face to Face" (organ and chimes) "The King's College Victory March" (piano) "He Leadeth Me" (organ and chimes) "After" (organ and chimes).

These records are being sold at record stores throughout Alberta and British Columbia at the present time and will soon be on sale all across Western Canada.

EDMONTON—On the afternoon of Monday, November 16, the Edmonton Women's Liberal Club held their Anniversary Tea in the Trocodero Ballroom, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Mrs. P. Mellors and Mrs. J. Besette were tea hostesses and arranged a sale of home baking and home-made candy.

Members attended and took a guest to enjoy the afternoon festivities.
